

The Federal Communications Commission

Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

There are too many fcc fees added to our phone bills as it is. I thought you Republicans were for less gov't regulation. Just get rid of all the fees and let the market competition sort it out. Including letting the taxpayer pay for the schools internet lines. I suspect that is just a "show" excuse for these fees.

Especially, please do not add new fees to the light users who have a prepaid cell phone often for piece of mind over safety concerns and long distance phone calling cards which again are usually the small user.

Furthermore we need real competition in our local phone service which may only come when a public utility provides the "last mile" As it is, local gov't provides me- water, sewer, electric, gas but private provides the last mile of cable, phone. These too should be public with choice then in the content provider.
